Keynote Session Description

‘Until these calamities be overpast’: a personal theodicy

Doubt is the shadow side of faith. The experience of working with suffering challenges faith and requires it to be reconstructed. How to reconstruct faith with integrity is a very personal work each individual chaplain has to do for themselves. This presentation will be my personal theodicy. (Psalm 57)

From supervision to case study presentation: How to write a chaplain case study

Case studies develop chaplaincy practice, both personally and for the profession. This interactive workshop will show how, building on regular reflective practice, a chaplain can write their own case study and gain insight into their work and also contribute to advancing the profession.
